1999 Research Publications List

WELLINGTON CAMPUS

WELLINGTON CAMPUS ........................................................................................................ 1
Wellington Campus

1. Refereed Journal Paper/Article

2. Book Authored by Staff Member

3. Book Edited by Staff Member

4. Chapter in a Book
   Gilling, M. (1999). When farming was done well: When farmers wives were the social glue. In D. Robinson (Ed.), Social capital in action (pp. 66-77). Wellington, NZ: Institute of Policy Studies.

5. Refereed Paper in Conference/Meeting/Symposia Proceedings

---

6. Non-refereed Journal Paper/Article

---

7. Non-refereed Paper in Conference/Meeting/Symposia Proceedings

Jones, L. M. (1999). Biting the silver bullet: A report on health outcomes and psychosocial issues for people who have linked ill health and dental amalgam fillings. In New Zealand Health Psychology 6th Annual Conference (p. 16), February 17, Okoroire, NZ. Palmerston North, NZ: Massey University, School of Psychology.

---

8. Book Review

9. Other Publications

11. Software

12. Creative Works
Kerr, S. (1999). Paleo neo: Video art from the 70s to the 90s [Video art]. April 3-May 3, New Zealand Film Archive, Wellington, NZ.
Noble, A. (Curator). (1999). For the love of the people [Photographs], October 25-December 17, Far Site Gallery, Petone, NZ.
Reddaway, R. (1999). Leak [Visual art], November 11, Wellington City Art Gallery, Wellington, NZ.

13. Addresses to Professional Bodies
Dowling, A. (1999). Lieder im DaF- Uterricht und Deutsch fur musikstudenten [Songs in German as a foreign language lesson and German for music students], Goethe Institute, July 2, Wellington, NZ.
Jones, L. (1999). Biting the silver bullet: A qualitative study of people who have linked their ill health and dental amalgam fillings. Social Science and Health Network, June 5, Wellington, NZ.

14. Extension Activity

15. Addresses to Community Organisations

16. Professional Consultancy

17. Radio, Television and Newsprint Interviews

